Swedish summerhouses: four of the best

Villa 21, Resaro

It comes as little surprise that the owners of this idyllic hillside villa run an interior design company. Available through Grand Trip Sweden, a highly original collection of exclusive, privately owned holiday homes, Villa 21, which sleeps seven in four bedrooms, is a half-hour drive north-east of Stockholm, on the sleepy island of Resarö. A thoroughly modern take on a traditional Swedish summerhouse, this is actually the owner's main home, available during the summer months and some other periods. Its focal point is a gloriously light-filled double-height living space with tall windows looking out on the lovely wild garden and the ocean beyond. It is a fantastic base for walking, swimming (there are great bathing spots close by) or simply hanging out in style. While it feels secluded, there is a grocery shop within walking distance and it is also only a short stroll to the pier where you catch the boat to Vaxholm, the hub for the Stockholm archipelago, where you will find an abundance of restaurants, bars and cafes.

- From €350 per night or €2,830 per week (00 46 709 530 572; grandtripsweden.com).
